on at Ralph Hurwit's store,

Seems that Ralph, Dan Parker, Henry Nuetzel, Lloyd Welch and Frank Spencer happened by and reportedly got to talking over the "Good Old Days." Including days when the Square was inhabited by colorful businessmen like the late realtor, Uncle Woodson Jones, candymaker, "Pop" Dane, and restaurateur, Henry Beamer, etc.who ran their shops with wonderful spirit. (Hmmmm? Ralph Burns?)

SPEAKING of Uncle Woodson-is something shady going on in his old corner office-now wrapped up in vinegar and brown paper?

The building, painted a fetching yellow prior to the first exhibit of children's art work, last Saturday, will be devoted to arts, guitar lessons, puppetry, etc. Guitar and folk song instruction will be given by Kathie Snow, art instruction by Jane Morse, puppetry by Evelyn Hawkins and Ruth Burr, and creative arts (including dancing) for younger children by Mary Wallace and Maria Stewart.

Both Maria Stewart and Jane Morse founded the highly-creative (and successful) Children's Theater in 1956.

SECOND STORY Worker? While driving along Orange Grove's poshier section one late afternoon, a commuter reports seeing a fragile little old lady teetering on top of a garbage can in order to jimmy a window.

NOW THAT Jonathan Porter has his diploma from Harvard, he and wife, Zoe (nee Barter) are heading West by way of his family home in Santa Fe, New Mexico. They'll spend July here visiting Zoe's mother, Midge Parker, and then travel to Colorado where Jonathan has been accepted at the university to study for his Ph.D.

AN ECSTATIC first-grader greeted her mother after school with:

"Guess what! During assembly today Mister Hawkins spoke to ME!" "What did he say?" asked

"He said, 'will the little girl in purple please be quiet?"

Next Monday's visit of the American Red Cross Bloodmobile to Sierra Madre will be at a new location. The Blood Bank, which for many years has been held at the Woman's Club, will now be held at the Sierra Madre School Cafeteria.

The Bloodmobile will be at the cafeteria from 3 to 7 p.m. on Monday, June 20. Prospective donors are urged to call Sierra Madre Red Cross Headquarters, ELgin 5-0745, for an appointment.

By making an appointment in advance donors not only assure themselves of prompt attention, but make possible a more efficient operation of the Bloodmobile visit, since the optimum size unit can then be sent.

But today an ad came our way, announcing a change in ownership and management of the Sierra Madre Theater, and because this newspaper believes that such a theater is needed in this community, and because the new owners are Sierra Madre residents, the NEWS is putting the advertisement on this page,

We trust that the new management will present good, decent and worthwhile pictures and be deserving of very good support and attendance. Here is the

Speeding Projects Also Deliberated

Sierra Madre's City Council has projected for consideration a five-year capital improvement program for this city, including improved street lighting, more recreational facilities, especially at Sierra Vista Park, and Sierra Madre Public Library betterment.

This developed at the special budgetary session of the city fathers who, at the same time, considered possibility of speeding any improvement projects put under way. To this end, they discussed the feasibility of hiring an assistant city engineer to help City Administrator Lawrence C. Bevington in executing improvements as they are approved by Council and set under way by the city administrator.

IT HAS LONG been conceded that City Administrator Bevington, burdened with administrative detail, can stand some additional help in carrying out councilmanieordered projects.

Growth of Sierra Madre and its institutions is a leading factor in this over-all planning. The Public Library, for instance, hopes to meet the need of the increasing population of young folk, particularly teenagers, being brought about by completion of a new Pasadena High School, not far distant, the La Salle High School, a short distance away, and the forth-coming first class of the new

Mt. Alverno Heights Academy "not when they come to us for service and find us unprepared, but in our making ready for them before-hand," in the viewpoint of Miss Ruth Cain, principal librarian.

THE CAPITAL program at the Public Library calls for extension of the Children's Room into the Community Room, movement of the reference department into the present children's area, and expansion of the teenagers' section into the present reference quarters.

The whole idea back of the changes is to make the library more "usable," and this is especially true in relation to the teenagers who make extensive use of the library's reference facilities.

By Toni Maurin SY. 7-9634

This is the day, this is it. SCHOOL IS OUT! The long months of happy vacation stretch ahead for all of the little people.

Already the house is beginning to take on a relaxed vacation look and I don't think I'm going to like it one little bit. I have decided there are two ways to approach the idea of summer vacation if you have four children. You can bat your head against the wall trying to fight nature or you can join the fun and let the chips fall where they may.

I'm going to try the latter this year. We are going to have togetherness. You know — work together — play to-gether. Chores first and then one long summer of FUN.
I'll let you know this fall who wore out whom.

THE HOME of Mrs. Ira Lackey of Old House Rd. was a beehive of activity as the Alpha Chi Omegas gave a luncheon meeting for the Pasadena Area Panhellenic Association.

There were 50 guests at the meeting and it turned out to be a lovely garden luncheon in spite of the unpredictable weather.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE HOLMES of Old House Rd. will leave our fair city and neighborhood tomorrow much to the distress of their many friends all over the valley. Their new address (for those who prepare their Christmas cards in the summer time), will be 173 N. Glengary, Birmingham, Mich. Mrs. Holmes opined that she was going to have to leave soon before she ate herself into absolute oblivion. She has been entertained extensively during the past month by her friends and different groups of which she is a member. Good luck, George and Jane and Janet and Doug. Hope you move

Has Close Call

Test Pilot Scott Crossfield, brother of Mrs. Claude H. (Elena) Brown of 49 W. Orange Grove, took in stride his close call last week when an X-15 experimental rocketship blew apart while he sat in the cockpit ground testing its new 60,000-pound thrust rocket engine at Edwards Air Force Base.

"You have to expect to take risks in my profession," ne commented. The explosion ripped through the back part of the sleek 50-foot craft, tore the 30-foot front section out of its steel frame moorings and hurled it about 20 feet-with Crossfield sitting helplessly inside. The ship's volatile rocket fuel burst into flame and the 39-year-old pilot quickly scampered out of the way. Fireme n who had been standing by with technicians in three concrete blockhouses, soon extinguished

"I'm all right," shrugge Crossfield, "but the dari firemen ruined a pair of my trousers by squirting m with water.

Corroding of Our Youth

We believe in youth-American youth-especially in this June-time of Commencement exercises, and the throngs of young men and young women who are being graduated from our high schools and colleges to "commence" their life work in this bewildering world.

But there is an old axiom that one rotten apple in a barrel will, if not removed, cause all the rest of the apples to rot. And in our contemporary America there are "not a few" rotten apples these days in the "Barrels of Youth" which unless soon removed promise only ill to the thousands NW.N.S. of all other youth, well-intentioned and meaningful in their desire to lead good and constructive lives for God and Our

Indeed, unless removed, these "rotten apples," in their utter and careless disregard for law and order, foundation stones of our Republic of the People; for the rights and safety of others and a respect for the traditional and imperative truisms of our democratic govenment, are fast becoming a distinct threat and peril to a continuation of our American freedom and all that it so beneficially implies. as

EVER SINCE the sensational exposure of the highlyplaced government official Alger Hiss as a Soviet agent, both the House Un-American Committee's activities, and Vice President Richard M. Nixon, at that time chairman of the subcommittee entrusted with the Hiss case, have been service. subjected to violent and unrelenting attack by leftwingers and fellow-travelers who in their ardent and losing defense of Hiss were exposed as Communist dupes.

Recently, in San Francisco, the committee conducted public hearings in accordance with rules guaranteeing every conceivable right of witnesses, including the right to confer with counsel. As has become the pattern, most witnesses took advantage of the "Fifth Amendment" in refusing to affirm or deny sworn charges against them.

As was to be expected, these recalcitrant witnesses were treated as heroes by the Communist newspaper, the People's World. Unexpected and entirely appalling, we were also so treated to a hysterical mob of several hundred college students whose refusal to yield to police rules led to wild rioting, injuries and numerous arrests, much of it in and about the San Francisco City Hall.

THAT THIS student mob chose to work for the interests of Red Russia instead of their own country doubtless can be attributed to a number of causes: leadership of Communist agitators, the fact that many of the demonstrators were members of the inevitable thong-sandaled, beatnik atic fringe, a distorted presentation of recent history in some cases by fellow-traveling university instructors, and propaganda of leftwing firebrands who in their exaggerated polemics condemning the House Un-American Committee, have contributed to the surrealistic emotional climate that made the student riots possible.

A letter-writer to the San Francisco News-Call Bulletin raise its profits to 6.7 per the other day observed that "some elements of our young students posing as intellectuals and free thinkers have an odd set of standards."

In recent weeks, he pointed out, various student groups in the Bay Area staged a mock holdup of a bank, broke into a zoo and killed a monkey, started a crusade for premarital sex, marched to San Quentin to protest the execution of Caryl Chessman, and in a "final act of stupidity" at the recent Un-American Activities Committee hearings "allowed themselves to become the lackeys of the Red comrades and the Fifth Amendment braintrusters."

The News-Call Bulletin correspondent concluded: "The thing that frosts my eyeballs is that part of my tax dollar is used to educate these boobs."

MUCH OF THIS sick behavior has a definite political flavor about it—a flavor far to the left of center. A recent survey of college campuses throughout the state by the San Francisco Chronicle revealed that a real concern exists among university administrators because of the violence of much recent student political activity and suddenness of its appearance. Student mobs, a standard Communist-inspired phenomenon in banana republics, are something new on the They, in connection with the students are being manipulated, inevitably the questional the United States National

Recently, a junior college student submitted a report his history class of a translation by the American President John Quincy Adams of a political treatise by a German "The French and American Revolutions contemporary, Compared."

THE BASIC IDEA presented in the treatise, with which the student expressed agreement, was that the American Revolution was beneficial because it defended the principles of limited government and individual liberty, whereas the French Revolution was harmful because it merely supplanted one tyranny with a more terrible one.

This idea, first voiced by the great British statesman, Edmund Burke, is respectable enough and not especially startling, but it apparently outraged some extra-liberal nerve of the student's history teacher who returned the report with many scathingly sarcastic remarks, such as "All bow down to the DAR, American Legion and damn the rest of the world." If college sophomores habitually receive such sophooric instruction, and it is not uncommon, perhaps it's not too surprising that some of them get their kicks out of callously murdering monkies and ignorantly rioting in city

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor: In the last 20 years most of us have gotten used to a gradual form of inflation. We do not complain as long wages rise accordingly and the rise in prices is not too severe and abrupt.

All companies deserve somewhat higher prices when they can benefit the consumer by better and quicker

No company, however, is justified in stepping up its prices to the level which was recently instituted by California Water and Telephone Company, with no compensation in service. nia is to insist that the Cali-Two-party service in the Sierra Madre-Monrovia area the California served by Water and Telephone Company was boosted from $3.95 to $4.60 monthly. I wonder to whom this raise is fair and equitable. It is certainly not to the subscribers, who have no choice as to which telephone company they would prefer. One either pays the "fair and equitable" rate generously equitable" rate generously granted by the Public Utility Commission or has his telephone removed.

I do not want to see a company forced into giving service when it is financially incapable to, under a certain price system. Some raise in prices could be justified if the subscribers were not pay-ing for the service rendered.

However, since no more than a year ago the California Telephone's coffers have been enriched by more than $100,000 a year at no cost to themselves.

Just exactly how much more money is the California Telephone Co. going to try and gouge from its subscrib ers? They had $120,000 paid to them from the bank last year, and a rate 41 per cent nigher than the Pasadena area this year, which is of course only "fair and equi-table."

"Duilding a Medallion home didn't cost us any more, but it did D offer more in living comforts. Take this all-electric kitchen, for example. I spend less time cooking because the equipment is so fast and automatic. And it's so much cleaner, too. My walls, curtains, ceiling and the range and oven stay spotless with practically no effort. Even the spatter cups on the range are removable for easy cleaning. I'd never want to live in any other kind of a house except a Medallion home."
